LECO in Spanish means SCREAM. With this term we pay tribute to those pioneering vinegrowers that began developing organic viticulture within the DOCa. Rioja and those rebels who started screaming for a more sustainable vineyard.

PUNK was an independent counter-culture movement that among other things, was one of the first to defend the protection of nature and the environment. Half a century later the movement still resonates, and in wine as well, looking back for pure flavours and compelling melodies. All in a sustainable way.

LECO PUNK reflects these ideals and is totally unambiguous organic TEMPRANILLO. Pure expression and conversation assured. Guitar, bass and drums. Full blast!!!

ORGANIC TEMPRANILLO VINEYARDS:

Location: In different villages of Rioja Oriental in high altitude, and Rioja Alta, Spain.

Soil Composition: Gravel and sandy soils.

Elevation: 450- 700 meters.

Viticulture: EU Certified Organic.

WINEMAKING:

Harvest: Hand-harvested in early October.

Fermentation: Grapes are cold soaked during pre-maceration in stainless steel tanks. Alcoholic fermentation in stainless at a cold temperature -below 28°C (82°F)- with light pump-overs to favor color extraction and concentration of aromas. Malolactic fermentation in stainless steel tanks.

TASTING NOTES:

Red of medium intensity with purple rim, denoting its youth. The nose has medium intensity aromas of red and blue forest fruit: blackberries, raspberries and strawberry, as well as black liquorice and herbs. In the mouth its fruit-forward and fresh, full-bodied and with a long finish.

Ideal by the glass and to be enjoyed with all sort of Mediterranean food (tapas, pasta, pizza, salads) burgers, BBQ and every day basics.
